Service: Customized Employment

Pursuant to Title 34, section 361.5 (c)(7)(i)(O), Code of Federal Regulations, Customized Employment means competitive integrated employment for a participant with significant disability that is based on individualized determination of the unique strengths, needs, and interests of the individual with a significant disability; is designed to meet the specific abilities of the participant and the business needs of the employer; and is carried out through flexible strategies, such as:

1. Job exploration by the individual; and
2. Working with an employer to negotiate the placement, including:
 - a. Customizing a job description based on employer needs or previously unidentified employer needs;
 - b. Developing a set of job duties, a work schedule, job arrangements, and other negotiated job-related duties; and
 - c. Providing services and supports at the job location.

Customized Employment is designed for participants for whom competitive integrated employment (CIE) has not historically occurred or is unable to sustain CIE without long-term supports; or whose experiences have been primarily in segregated facility-based programs, sheltered workshops, or subminimum wage positions; or who have not had the opportunity to work due to low expectations of abilities. Customized Employment supplements Supported Employment services when more intensive interventions are needed to identify, obtain, or maintain employment.

Service: Self-Employment and Supported Self-Employment

Pursuant to Title 34, sections 361.5(c)(9) and 361.5(c)(53), Code of Federal Regulations (C.F.R.), and the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA), self-employment is defined as working for oneself with direct control over work and with prices for products and/or services set to make a profit and meets the qualifications of Competitive Integrated Employment.

Self-Employment Services provide an opportunity for participants with disabilities to own a business with appropriate resources and supports. The program is a systematic process that starts with the person and uses discussions and personal interactions to learn about the participant and his/her ideal conditions of employment. From that information, business ideas that fit the participant's unique capabilities are identified. Information is then gathered on the feasibility of the business idea(s) and a business plan is developed for only the most promising business concepts.

Supported Self-Employment provides the opportunity for participants with most significant disabilities to own a business with appropriate resources and support. Participants who meet the criteria for Supported Employment and are interested in Self-Employment may pursue Supported Self-Employment. Supported Self-Employment differs from Self-Employment because the participant requires and receives support and ongoing assistance in the daily running of the business. Supports are not time limited and may be needed for the life of the business.

*Working with a Certified Business Technical Assistant Consultant (CBTAC) is strongly recommended but not required. *
