Benefits of the School Incident Report for School Administrators

- Access to a free user friendly dashboard containing critical data on violence, drugs, and discipline for all Florida public schools.
- Credible, objective and external documentation for grant funding applications as well as bond referendums, reports and other documentable processes.
- Data for districts seeking legislative support to address patterns of risk inside your school.
- Identify patterns and trends of violence, drugs, and discipline in your district.
- Assists school administrators to target resources effectively.
- Ability to compare all school districts and all schools across all SESIR incident data, in-and-out of school suspensions, and incidents referred to law enforcement.
- Easily view metrics to identify schools that under-report and over report SESIR data.

School Environmental Safety Incident Reporting (SESIR) System - District & State Reports

The School Environmental Safety Incident Reporting (SESIR) System currently collects data on 26 incidents of crime, violence, and disruptive behaviors that occur on school grounds, on school transportation, and at off-campus, school-sponsored events, during any 24-hour period, 365 days per year. Incidents are reported by schools to the districts which, in turn, provide the data to the DOE.

Districts use standardized SESIR codes and definitions to report incidents to the department.

SchoolSafety.gov Purpose

SchoolSafety.gov provides one-stop access to federal school safety resources, programs, and actionable recommendations to support school efforts to create a safe and supportive learning environment where students can thrive and grow.

The Clearinghouse aims to help schools prevent, protect, mitigate, respond to, and recover from emergency situations.

Get Started

Create an action plan

Assess the efforts that you are taking to address school safety, and get a personalized action plan with next steps you can take.

Take the assessment

Find resources

Search for specific resources, like guidance, trainings, or fact sheets, that are vetted by SchoolSafety.gov.

Search resources

SchoolSafety.gov Readiness Tool

Assists users in evaluating their respective school's safety posture across 10 foundational elements of school safety.

After completing the assessment, users are provided a tailored Action Plan with task prioritization, options for consideration, aligned resources, and grant opportunities specific to their individual school's needs.

The screenshot displays the SchoolSafety.gov website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the SchoolSafety.gov logo and menu items: Prevent, Protect and Mitigate, Respond and Recover, and Get Started. A search bar is located on the right. The main content area features the heading "Your School Safety Action Plan" with a download icon. Below this, a paragraph states: "Every school is different and requires a unique approach to preventing school violence." Another paragraph says: "Use this personalized action plan to learn the initial priorities you should consider as part of your safety planning." A blue button labeled "Download Your Action Plan" is positioned below the text. To the right of the text is an illustration of three people interacting with a large blue filing cabinet. One person is sitting on top, another is standing and looking at a document, and a third is using a magnifying glass. Below the illustration, there is a "High Priority" section with a clock icon. Underneath, the heading "Designated Staff" is followed by the text "Options for consideration:" and a bullet point: "Review the responsibilities of a pe someone for the role." SchoolSafety.gov Readiness Tool

Assists users in evaluating their respective school's safety posture across 10 foundational elements of school safety.

After completing the assessment, users are provided a tailored Action Plan with task prioritization, options for consideration, aligned resources, and grant opportunities specific to their individual school's needs.

The screenshot displays the SchoolSafety.gov website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the SchoolSafety.gov logo and menu items: Prevent, Protect and Mitigate, Respond and Recover, and Get Started. A search bar is located on the right. The main content area features the heading "Your School Safety Action Plan" with a download icon. Below this, a paragraph states: "Every school is different and requires a unique approach to preventing school violence." Another paragraph reads: "Use this personalized action plan to learn the initial priorities you should consider as part of your safety planning." A blue button labeled "Download Your Action Plan" is positioned below the text. To the right of the text is an illustration of three people interacting with a large blue filing cabinet; one person is sitting on top, another is looking through a magnifying glass, and a third is holding a document. Below the main content, there is a section titled "High Priority" with a sub-heading "Designated Staff". Under "Designated Staff", it says "Options for consideration:" followed by a bullet point: "Review the responsibilities of a pe someone for the role." Below this is a "Related Resource(s)" section. A separate box on the right shows a "Question 1" section with the text "See a definition of designated staff." and a dropdown arrow. The question is "Does your district or school have a dedicated person who is responsible for coordinating and managing emergency preparedness, safety, and security?" with two radio button options: "My district or school doesn't have a designated person who manages safety and security efforts." and "My school doesn't have a designated person who manages safety and security efforts, but our district has a trained, certified person who coordinates safety and security initiatives, in addition to their other primary responsibilities."

Schools have different needs and considerations that determine how they address school safety. While there isn't a universal school safety plan, you can use the Safety Readiness Tool to get common actions that you should consider to create a safe school environment.

Identify the efforts you're taking to address school safety by selecting the answer that best fits your school. After you complete the assessment, you'll get a personalized action plan and next steps to consider. After implementing the options for consideration in your action plan, consider taking the assessment again in the future to see how your action plan evolves. Your responses will not be stored by SchoolSafety.gov.

A survey of high school students across Virginia found that school resource officers make most feel safer.

The results of the annual secondary school climate survey come as school districts locally and across the country are reevaluating the role of police on school grounds. Last month, the Charlottesville School Board ended its agreement with the city police department for school resource officers, and the Albemarle board recommended other
